Claims 1-5 are presented for examination.

The amendments and remarks filed on June 22, 2007 have been received and entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1618

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bressi et al. (US 7,154,002).

Bressi et al. teach the use of histone deacetylase inhibitors in the treatment of conditions such as diabetic retinopathy and macular degeneration. See column 33, lines 45-55 and column 34 lines 5-20. The above reference in column 3, teaches the use of the claimed compound SAHA as a histone deacetylase inhibitor. It would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art to use the claimed histone deacetylase inhibitor for the treatment of conditions such as macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and other conditions of neovascularization, motivated by the teaching of Bressi et al., which teaches the use of the claimed compound, SAHA as a histone deacetylase inhibitor.

One skilled in the art would have been motivated to employ the teaching of the above reference, since it relates to the use of certain histone deacetylase inhibitors for the treatment of ophthalmic conditions, such as macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and glaucoma, and also to the claimed compound as a histone deacetylase inhibitor. The substitution of one histone deacetylase inhibitor for another would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Applicant has presented no evidence to establish the unexpected or unobvious nature of the claimed invention, and as such, claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103.
